

Outreach Trainers Residential Retreat

2015 Website Program Description

Outreach Trainers, who are all trained and certified by The Monroe Institute® (TMI), play an important role in furthering the mission of the Institute by providing educational services to the public, increasing public awareness of TMI, and stimulating interest in TMI's residential programs. Throughout the world Outreach Trainers introduce diverse groups of people through Outreach activities to The Monroe Institute, its programs, Hemi-Sync® audio technology, self-empowering consciousness tools, and Robert Monroe's philosophy and legacy.

Being an Outreach Trainer requires considerable commitment and energy, but the opportunities for personal and professional development—while being of service to others and making a positive difference in the world—are numerous.

We are currently reviewing, upgrading and expanding the entire Outreach Trainer Program which consists of three sequential modules: (1) online study and preparation, (2) a 5-day residential program, and (3) a mentoring period during which the trainee conducts the initial Excursion Workshop. The modules are designed to be completed within one year after acceptance into the program.

The new Outreach Trainer Program will be implemented in 2016. Once available, essential qualifications for applicants as well as other information will be displayed on this page. If you are interested in learning more about the Outreach Trainer Program, we invite you to check this page periodically.
